This QRG provides instructions for students on how to accept and decline awards and loans in Workday.

When students are offered an award or loan, they receive an automated email from Workday notifying them that they have been packaged for Financial Aid. This message instructs students to log into Workday to check their awards.

To accept or decline an award or federal loan, complete the following steps.

ACCEPT OR DECLINE A FINANCIAL AID AWARD IN WORKDAY

This section breaks down dollar amounts for each type of Financial Aid and displays your 'Total Estimated' and 'Out of Pocket' costs for the year.

7. Scroll down the page to display the 'Financial Aid Overview' tab and review your 'Award Year Summary.'

The 'Award Year Summary' shows how much Financial Aid you were offered and how much you accepted.

The table below the 'Summary' reveals the award schedule by 'Academic Period,' showing when your awards will post.

For more detailed financial information, review the 'Awards Breakdown' tables, organized by academic period, at the bottom of the page.

8. Click Accept/Decline Awards.

> Note: If an official award letter is needed, click Print Award Letter, and follow the instructions provided to save and/or print your own official Financial Aid award letter.

9. For each Award Type, choose a Decision from the drop-down menu.

> Note: Workday accepts grants and scholarships for students automatically; as you look at each 'Award' table, notice that 'Decision' defaults to 'Accept' for all scholarships and grants.

10. Continue accepting and/or declining awards until there are no longer any blank 'Decision' fields.

> Note: Once declined, certain types of Financial Aid cannot be reinstated. Contact your Financial Aid Office with questions you have about an award prior to declining it.
